School is in Session

Vehicles must stop at least twenty feet before reaching a stopped school bus with red lights flashing and its stop arm extended. This applies whether it is on your side of the road, the opposite side of the road or at an intersection. Under a new law, drivers approaching a school bus from the opposite direction can no longer pass a bus that has its flashing lights on, and its stop arm deployed, on a street that has painted lines or a painted median separating direction of traffic. In other words, those drivers may continue only if there is a raised median or other physical barrier between directions of traffic.
